A Modern Woman's World

On V. I.'s campus, warmth and friendship . . .

. . . fused with independence and vision,

Although time may see women playing different roles in life, basically there is a similarity among women of all ages. The demands of the business world, the challenges of an education, and the contributions of science have helped mold the outer woman of today's world. Still there remains an inner woman that will never change. This is the woman who was known to man even when Jesus was among His people.

". . . She is more precious than jewels . . .
She puts her hands to the distaff,
and her hands to the spindle.
She opens out her hands to the poor,
and reaches out her hands to the needy . . .
Strength and dignity are in her clothing,
and she laughs at the time to come.
She opens her mouth with wisdom,
and the teaching of kindness is on her tongue . . .
Charm is deceitful, and beauty is vain,
but a woman who fears the Lord is to be praised.
Give her the fruit of her hands,
and let her works praise her in the gates."

Senior Proclamation Song

V.I. V.I.,
Our moments here we'll treasure.
We've found in you all pleasure
Of our college days—for:
Our moments here we'll cherish at V.I.
We've found in you all joy beyond the sky.
We ask of you one favor;
Please let us now remember
All of the memories we shared, we cared we helped to bear
All of our mem'ries be they good or bad,
All were made when we were gay or sad.
The mem'ries of the days that were the beginning of
A whole different world for you and me.
With a love in our hearts
We will love those who cannot be loved.
We will look for a star
That will guide us both near and far.
Love and guidance true we will always use,
With a love in our hearts so true.
We know good-byes may come too soon,
But we know somewhere we shall meet,
maybe soon.
Until that sometime, that somewhere,
We'll leave this word with you:
Somewhere hearts will meet;
Then all will seem complete.
Wherever we shall roam;
We will always find this home.
V.I.V.I., you gave us our beginning,
You made our lives worth living.
Somehow, somewhere we shall repay
All the love, all the friends we have today. . .

Proclamation Song

Somewhere in a valley stands V.I.
The sky shields all who may enter by her walls
so high.
This place I'll always remember,
until the day I die.
This place is my loved home—dear loved home—
V.I.
With friends behind we all shall miss
The joys we shared and times like this for it is
My home in the valley, on the hill
With my heart in its foundation, my heart, my life, my will.
This place I'll always remember, until the day I die.
This place is my loved home—dear loved home—
V.I.

Dr. Floyd V. Turner

Always remember that, in every area of life, we are responsible for what we know. Education is a continuing process and should become one of the most highly motivating forces in life. As we struggle for maturity, learning and freedom will come to us only to the degree that we are willing to accept the truth as revealed to us. Accept the challenge of living and strive in every way to have a satisfactory relationship with others and with God.

Cordially,

Floyd V. Turner

President

Mr. Carl E. Todd

DEAN OF THE COLLEGE

Two of your most important years have been spent with us and we hope these have been happy and maturing ones. To you who are graduating I wish you the best that life can offer as you dedicate your talents and services to creating a better place in which you and yours may live. May God's richest blessings be yours as the fullness of time unfolds.

Mr. John C. Allred, Jr.

DEAN OF STUDENT PERSONNEL

One of life's highest achievements is believing in and living for causes that survive us and doing things that outlast us. In all that you do be loyal to God and to the welfare of all mankind.

Grow to exceed yourself, not to outdistance others. To be better than another will not be enough if you remain less than you could be.

We will miss you.

Art

Courses in Fine and Applied Art give the student a background in art fundamentals to which specialized skills may be added with subsequent training. Drawing, painting, and commercial art classes plus cultural courses give the student present knowledge as well as preparing her for future learning. To the formal learning acquired in the classroom and studio has been added the opportunity of seeing great art at a series of fine exhibits this year. In collaboration with the Bristol Chapter of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, an impressive array of locally owned medieval furniture, paintings, sculpture, and art objects was presented as well as a Christmas exhibit of madonnas and creches. Other exhibits have included one-man shows by Mr. Cooke and Mr. Thompson. The work of Miss Margaret Hayes of the East Tennessee State University art faculty and New York photographer, Jack Mitchell, has also been exhibited.

Mr. Thompson's class at work in the Upstairs Studio.

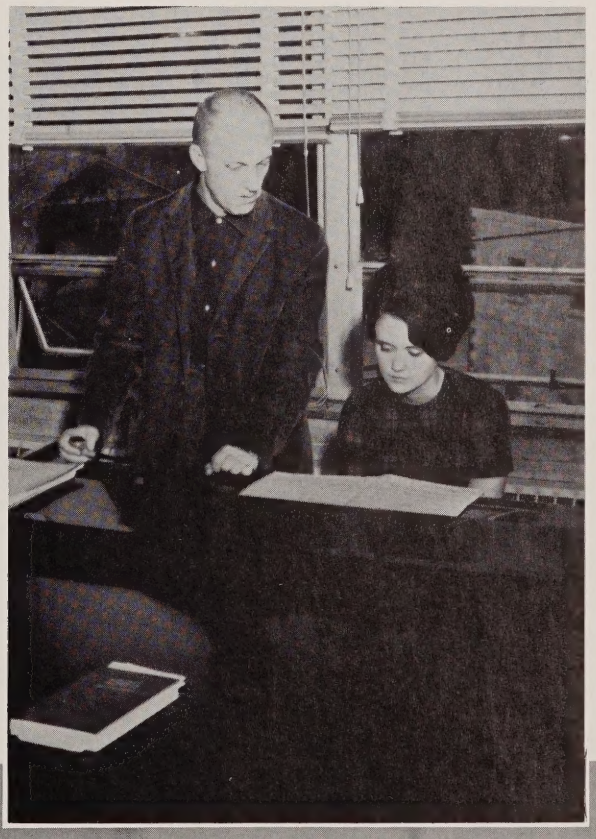
Mr. Ward, L. Poole, T. Thompson, J. Hess, and J. Nailling in Advertising Class.

Music

Self-expression rewards the music student. Talented musicians are trained in piano, organ, and voice; music lovers may choose classes in music appreciation and theory; and the average student finds the thrill of competing for a place in a sixty-voice choir. This choir was presented at Christmas in concert with the Virginia Tech Glee Club. The spring tour took a forty-voice section to Lees-McRae College, Lynchburg College, Anderson College, Catawba College, and the Knollwood Baptist Church in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. In addition to a recital by Mr. Osthoff and Miss Eller's students, Cherry Wolfe, Beverly Tissot, and Donna Woodward were presented in senior recitals.

Marcia Ramsey practicing at the Organ.

Mr. Osthoff and Cherry Wolfe interpreting an adagio.



Mr. Osthoff listens to Cherry Wolfe as Sylvia Davis and Marcia Ramsey await their turn.

Speech

The speech student divides her time between the library and the lectern. Emphasis is placed upon vital debate research and creative extemporaneous speaking. The Debate Interest Group, sponsored by the Speech Department, competed and placed at a meet at Carson-Newman College; and at a home tournament for nearby girls' colleges, Intermont also took honors.

Anne Beers plays back a vocal recording

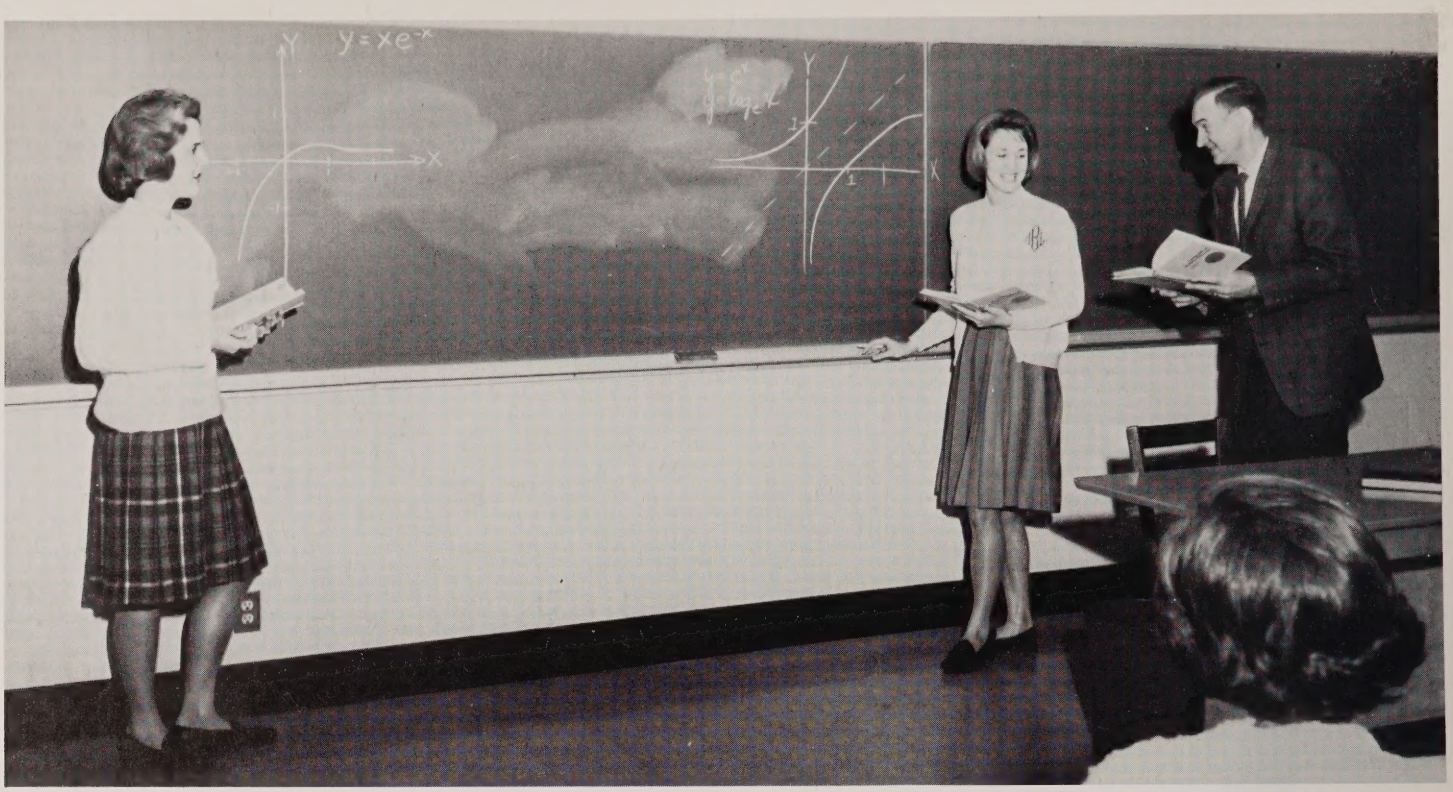
Karen Ferris giving an impromptu lecture in speech class.

Students learning the dramtic importance of hand gestures.

Drama

The Little Theater, the Green Room, the control booth, and the classroom are the domain of the drama student. Student-organized plays give the drama major an opportunity to display her talents while classes develop her latent abilities. One accomplishment has been the development of the Children's Theater, which was started only last year. In two tours during the 1964-1965 season, this theater has played to an audience of over 10,000 children, presenting The Ugly Duckling and For the Love of a Worm. This latter play is of special interest to the drama students because it is the work of Sally Passmore Cooke, a former instructor at Intermont. The technical perfection of The Innocents will long be remembered, as well as many other contributions these students have made to entertainment and enlightenment.

Pam Bell, Marty Traband, and Pat Green completing a set for the one-acts.



Pat and Peggy Bolin point out "twin" axes to Mr. Buckner.

Mathematics

In addition to the usual courses in algebra and trigonometry, an accelerated course in these subjects was offered for the first time in 1964-65. Second year mathematics students again discovered the challenge of calculus and analytical geometry.

Mr. Buckner explains the Law of Cosines to a trigonometry class.

Classes in anatomy, botany, chemistry microbiology, physics, organic chemistry, and zoology are broad enough to sustain the interest of the general student yet are specialized enough to meet the needs of the student entering a science-allied profession.

Suzanne Henderson calibrating equipment in the Physics Lab.

Kitty Harmon points out examples in the text as Barbara Moore views zoology specimens under the microscope.

Science

Spending an afternoon in the Anatomy Lab, students delve into the mysteries of science.

Typing class can be a bit trying.

Secretarial

Not only does the medical secretarial or general secretarial student learn skills which best equip her for a business career, but the secretarial major also selects liberal arts courses which encourage her lifelong educational growth.

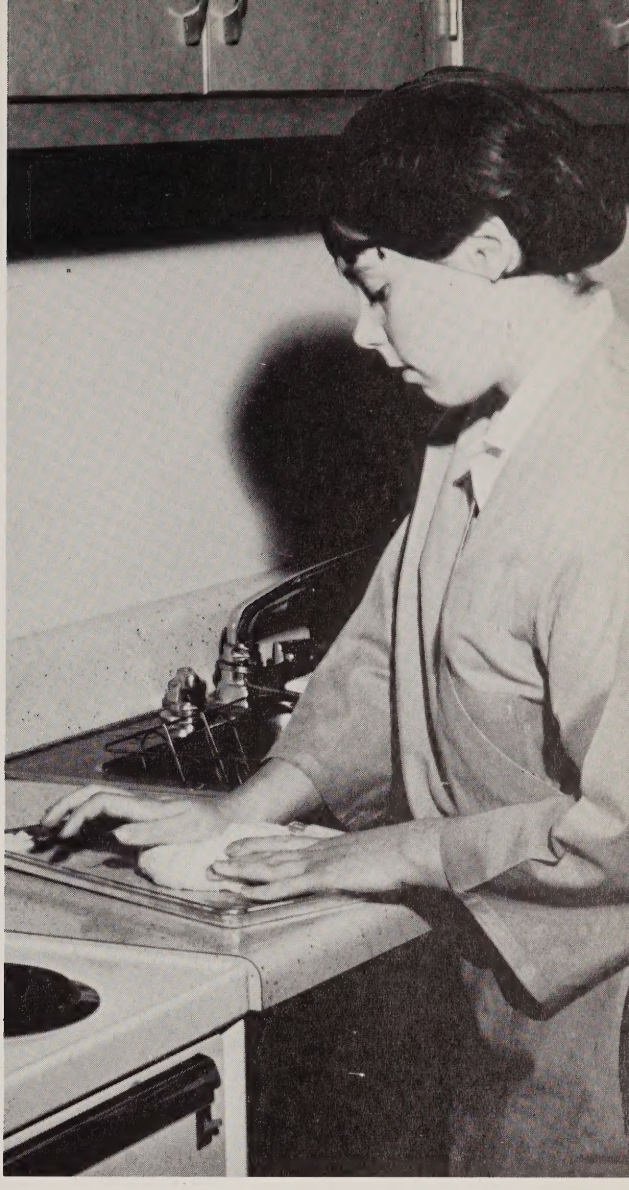
Home Economics

Dressmaking requires diligence and patience.

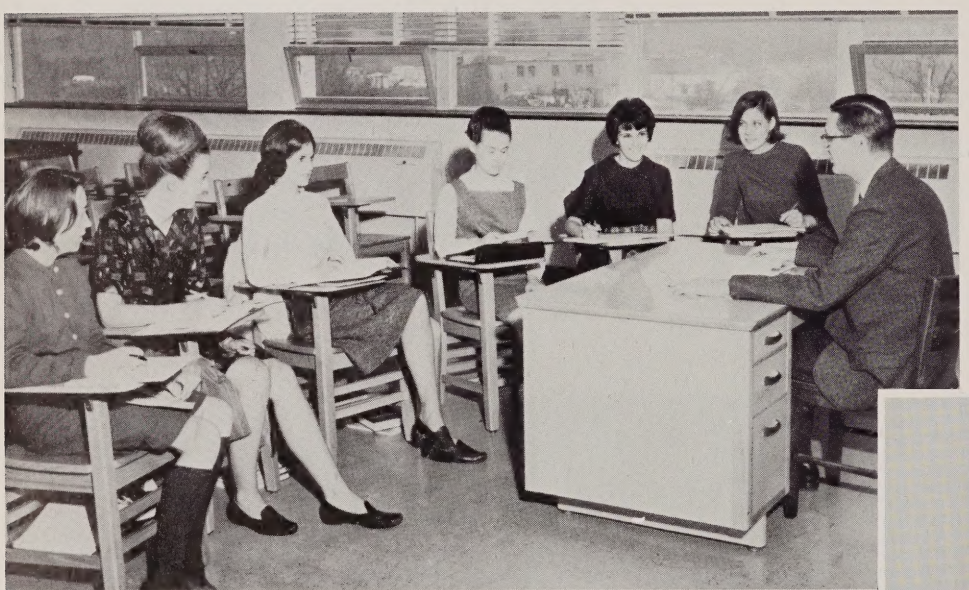


Betty Archer kneads dough in biscuit making.

Whether training to make a career in home economics or to meet the demands upon the modern homemaker, the facilities for both are available in the Home Economics Department.

Cake-baking is quite a task. Heidi Axt, Becky Port, and Sherry Classen tackle the job.

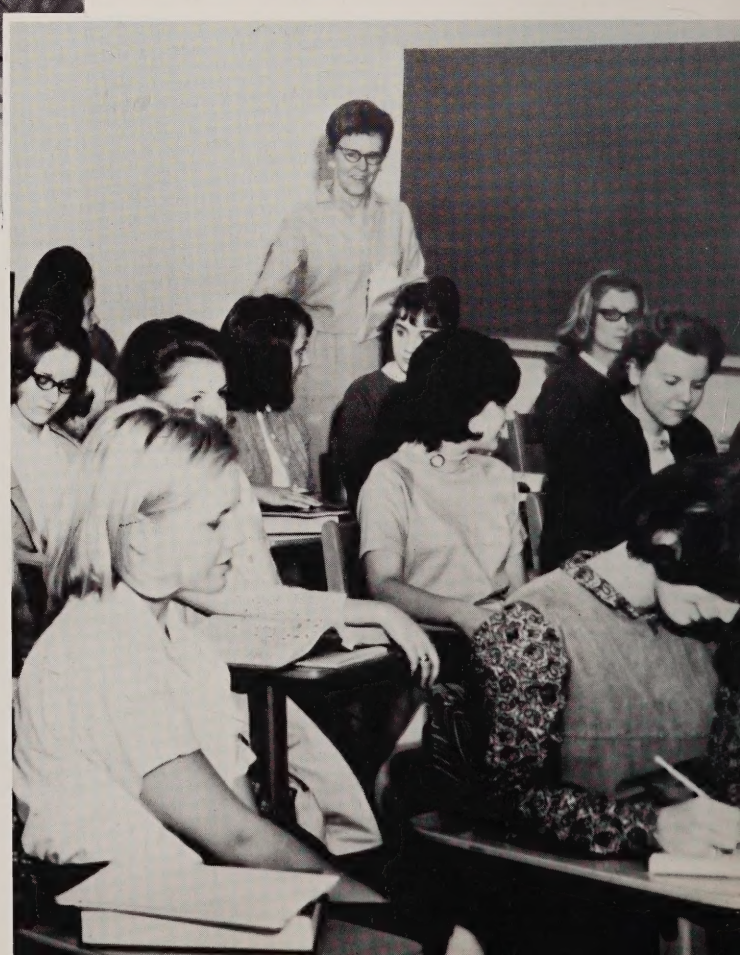
Term paper time in Mrs. Milne's English class.



J. Hales, S. Richardson, K. Davis, M. Atkeson, H. Pappas, and M. Graham enjoy Mr. Tolson's stimulating class discussion.

Humanities

The humanities represent that area of learning which helps the student develop the capacity to live in the modern world. The English Department stresses usage as well as acquaintance with classical and contemporary literature. The social sciences, economics, history, philosophy psychology and sociology, strive to present a practical plan for living, while religion courses stress the Christian values in life. Field trips to the Virginia coal fields and the Southwest State Hospital at Marion highlighted the curriculum of this year's humanities classes.



Miss Coulter's absorbing western civilization class in progress.

Languages

"Uh-oh"—Mr. Styles hands back exam papers.

"Parlez-vous Francais?" "No, hablo espanol." French and Spanish language classes build the fundamentals of grammar; and, in addition, translation of French classics and modern Spanish-American literature gave this year's student a greater knowledge of Continental customs and outlooks.

Dr. Riviello lectures on EMILE.

Nancy Ellett demonstrates a slow canter.

Physical Education

A wide range of physical education courses from aquatics to equitation, from bowling to ballet, provide all students with a chance to develop skills while more intensive training is available for physical education majors. Outside class, participation in Intramurals and inter-collegiate teams provides students with recreational activity.

Organizations

Student Government

Mr. Allred, Sponsor; Lorraine Yard, Secretary-Treasurer; Paula Collier, Vice-President; and Tracie Meadow, President.

The Student Government Association, as the name implies, makes and enforces rules as well as promotes better faculty-student relations. In February twelve delegates attended the Middle South Model United Nations at the University of North Carolina.

Parents' Weekend, sponsored by SGA, each year brings parents to the campus for a taste of Intermont life as their daughters experience it. Held this year during the first week of March, the outstanding entertainment feature of the weekend was the National Opera Company's performance of The Barber of Seville.

Standing: A. Brobeck, K. Van Gorder, J. Kennedy, S. Hall, M. E. Gamble, M. Fischer.
Sitting: S. Muse, B. Morrell, S. Hughes, D. Southern, H. Hubbard.
Kneeling: J. Frye, P. Harrison.

The Student Activities Committee co-ordinates all major social and cultural activities and serves as a channel through which students can express opinions or suggestions. Presidents of campus organizations comprise the committee. Fall Frolics, a weekend featuring a hootenanny, a barbeque, and an informal dance, was under the sponsorship of this committee. The concert-lecture series brought to the campus the Norman Luboff Choir, Elie Abel, Sergio Rojas, the Paul Winter Jazz Sextet, and the National Opera Company in The Barber of Seville.

Ann Estes, Chairman; Miss Barbara Frogge, Advisor.

Student Activities Committee

First Row: J. Hales, P. Kleisner, S. Haight, B. Archer.

Miss Smith, Sponsor, and Page Makely, Chairman.

Religious Planning Board

The Religious Planning Board, composed of presidents and devotional chairmen of the denominational groups, co-ordinates the activities of the six groups and plans general campus religious activities. To acquaint the juniors with area churches, the girls were provided with a tour and a progressive supper.

Individual denominational groups first met informally for coke parties. The Harvest Carnival, complete with a horror chamber, added to the gaiety of Halloween for the children of the Janie Hammit Home. Underprivileged children were feted again at the Christmas party.

The first week of February was designated as Religious Emphasis Week. The Reverend Dr. William Blewett and the Reverend Warren Carr spoke in chapel, led group discussions, and counseled individuals. The subjects under study were taken from topics treated in the play, For Heaven's Sake! The Planning Board also supervised weekly vespers.

Informal discussions highlighted this year's Religious Emphasis Week.

Sally Haight, Devotional Chairman; Robin Ruth, Secretary-Treasurer; Cherly Koelsch, Social Chairman; Page Makely, President; and Stephanie Marino, Vice-President.

Canterbury Club

The Canterbury Club is open to any student who is an Episcopalian or who is interested in the Episcopal Church.

Bi-weekly Communion services have been held with the Reverend Charles McNeer, area Episcopal college chaplain, as the celebrant. Group discussions with area college students at the home of the Reverend Mr. McNeer have been held regularly. One of these featured Dr. Turner leading the discussion on education.

Peanut Week, this organization's annual effort to brighten the month of February, was highlighted by a banquet and a party in the Student Center.

Standing: L. Bell, B. Burgess, N. Tisdale, A. Bennett, B. Barnard, C. Koelsch, S. Tiensch, M. Graham, G. Gould, W. Roades, S. Stumpf, J. Polhemus, M. Gamble, R. Ruth.
Seated: M. Eaton, Miss Smith, Sponsor; P. Makely, B. Watkins, C. Huston, S. Lefczik, V. Davis, S. Marino, S. Haight.

United Religions Association

Becky Jones, President; Sandi Townsend, Secretary; and Lindy Roys, Devotional Chairman.

The United Religions Association provides an organization for Christian fellowship and service for those denominations not represented by a separate group.

A tour of local churches, participation in the Harvest Carnival, and a picnic at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Turner were highlights of the fall. The second half of the school year found this group contributing to the success of Religious Emphasis Week and the Easter Egg Hunt at the Janie Hammit Home. Their final event was a spring picnic.

Left to Right: N. Shenk, L. Blackwelder, A. Brinton, H. Chapman, L. Roys, B. Jones, S. Townsend, C. Yerg.

Wesley Foundation

Suzanne Hughes, Secretary-Treasurer; Betty Archer, President; and Diane Abbott, Vice-President.

The Wesley Foundation of Virginia Intermont is the only junior college fellowship which attends the State-Wide Conference. This group holds dinner meetings during which they plan such activities as a booth in the Harvest Carnival and speakers for their meetings. One of the most enjoyable events was the Christmas party and caroling.

Standing: B. Archer, M. Tillman, D. Sommers, N. Irvin, J. Fields, B. Teilmann.
Seated: K. Goff, S. Hughes, M. Moore, G. Wilson, W. Luck, D. Abbott, L. Richardson.

Pat Kleisner, President; Jodi Culver, Vice-President; and Barbara Masi, Secretary-Treasurer.

The Newman Club is open to all Catholic girls on campus. Their activities included participation in the Harvest Carnival, grace at the sit-down meals, and a breakfast with the Sullins Newman Club. One of the main events this year was a trip to the Virginia Military Institute.

Newman Club

Standing: B. LaMonica, J. Ventura, J. Devors, P. Sharkey, C. Bellemente, R. Russo, C. McCarthy, K. Kichline.
Seated: E. Minck, L. Bates, J. Culver, B. Masi, P. Kleisner, G. LaMantia, D. Henry.
Kneeling: J. Gianato, J. McCoy, B. Nichols, J. Moore, S. Dombroski.

Sham Knapp, Devotional Chairman; Meg Bottorf, President; and Ginne Celler, Social Chairman.

Westminster Fellowship, the college organization for Presbyterian students, participated in monthly Communion services in the Fisherman's Room. Delegates attended the eighth annual Quadrennial in December at Richmond, Virginia and made plans to send delegates to a spring meeting in Gatlinburg.

The Fellowship planned much of its activity this year in conjunction with groups from other area colleges.

Westminster Fellowship

Standing: K. Phlegar, K. Folker, S. Knapp.
Seated: N. Hewitt, C. Osborne, P. Bolin, P. Bolin, G. Celler, D. Winkler.

Baptist Student Union

Standing: Janna Brown, Devotional Chairman; Lyn Simmons, Missions Chairman; and Bess Cumbie, Social Chairman.
Seated: Harriet Jenkins, Secretary; Joan Hales, President; and Helen Pappas, Program Chairman.

The Baptist Student Union furnishes a link between the campus and the local church as well as Christian fellowship on the campus itself. The group was honored this year in the appointment of Lyn Simmons as a Baptist summer missionary. Besides individual service the Baptist Student Union undertook group projects. This year's two Birthday Dinners were the work of the club in addition to "Slave Day," a spaghetti supper, and a car wash.

Standing: B. Cumbie, J. Webb, A. Burkhalter, L. Simmons, M. King, D. Shuford, M. R. Ayers, L. Drury.
Seated: H. Pappas, M. Goode, P. Johns, J. Hales, K. Harmon, J. Cartwright, H. Jenkins, J. Brown.

Phi Beta

Phi Beta encourages high professional standards in music, drama, and speech by restricting membership on the basis of scholarship and ability.

The club made production arrangements for the student recitals and provided programs for the Veterans' Home, and for Commencement Week-end. Entertainment for various clubs and functions was also arranged by this group.

Third Row: C. Wolfe, S. Sheriff, M. Sketchley, H. Pappas.

This year's annual is centered on modern women, and "modern" aptly describes the '65 Intermont. Completely reorganized, with a different printing company, the '65 Intermont hopes to set a new standard for Virginia Intermont annuals, as well as to uphold the traditions of the old.

The Cauldron

The 1964-65 Cauldron staff published four issues featuring student creativity—poetry, short stories, and drawings. Publications Week-end, in conjunction with the Intermont staff, was the primary activity of the Cauldron. A formal dance and the appearance of the Highty-Tighties distinguished this year's Publications Week-end.

Later, over 10,000 children saw the two plays that toured the area schools. The theatrical group presented three one-act plays and toured with a religious play. Members of the organization worked in elementary schools as aids in dramatic instruction. The Rhoda Nunnally award is given by this club each year to the outstanding drama major, and they also present a best actress award.

One of the most successful projects was the printing of Christmas cards with linoleum blocks. Teas given by the club honored the various artists, both faculty and guests, who exhibited on campus. The set designs for the March water show were created by a committee under the leadership of Lucille Soffel.

Jubilant Seniors carried Song Contest leader Beverly Tissot to a watery reward in the school fountain after their triumph in the Junior-Senior Song Contest, an annual event. The seniors were under the capable direction of Bev and the juniors were well guided by Donna Woodward. The contest was sponsored by the Athletic Association at the beginning of the year as a means of creating class spirit.

Opportunities to enjoy sports and class competition were also found in intramurals in speedball, volleyball, basketball, and softball. To build interest in the championship basketball match, an effigy hunt was held. The AA ended the year's activities with a banquet at which individual awards and the class award were presented.

Boots and Saddle Club

Limited to students enrolled in riding classes, the Boots and Saddle Club cultivates interest in group riding and individual horsemanship. During the fall various members attended the Lebanon Horse Show, where they won the Championship; the Campbell Horse Show where two members took a second and a third; and the Tobacco Festival Horse Show, where they brought home two first-place ribbons and a second place one. The Club sponsored a gymkhana in the fall and later gave a Christmas party. Eighteen members witnessed the running of the Kentucky Derby while on a three-day trip to Lexington. To conclude the year's activities the club relived "The Derby Day" with a banquet carrying out the Derby theme.

Although the team lost, outstanding performances by team-captains Ruth Hurley and Lyn Bell made for a close game. The team was less successful in games with Emory and Henry and Carson-Newman Colleges.

Volleyball Team

The members of the volleyball team are chosen on the basis of actual performance. Ferrum Junior College, Averett College, and Emory and Henry College proved to be stiff opponents for the newly formed team. The team also traveled to Danville to vie with Ferrum Junior College for aquatic honors.

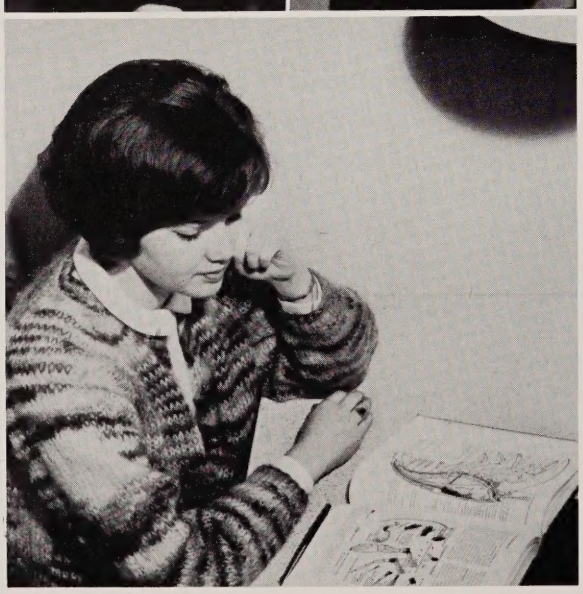
The Torchbearers

In a tradition begun a quarter of a century ago, the student body annually singles out those members who have been most successful in academic and extracurricular work. This year's nominees were chosen by a faculty-student committee and were voted upon by the student body. The Torch bearers have among them two class president, a talent contest winner, two members of the Dean's List, and several talented musicians. All twelve are fine persons and real leaders.



Miss Ideal Intermont

The Ideal Intermont Girl Award is presented by the Alumnae Association to that senior girl who has best upheld the goals—scholarship, leadership, character, and service—and traditions of Virginia Intermont College through her two years at Intermont.

MISS PAULA ANN COLLIER
of Abingdon, Virginia

Paula is on the Dean's List; she has held a 2.7 average in the Liberal Arts curriculum; she is the recipient of the Marguerite Pflug Scholarship; she is president of Phi Theta Kappa, national junior college honorary society; and she is Vice-President of the Student Government Association. She has been an active member of the Baptist Student Union and was a member of the 1963-'64 Intermont touring choir.

MISS REBECCA ANN MYERS

Rebecca Ann Myers was the recipient of the Margaret Noffsinger Memorial Scholarship. Her outstanding academic record and her fine character were the bases on which this award was made by the faculty.

The Kay Hughlett Award to the outstanding day student was presented to Katina Diane Totten. Diane was judged by the faculty to be the most helpful and most co-operative of Intermont's day students.

MISS KATINA DIANE TOTTEN

Busy workers help prepare material for the final deadline.

In Closing . . . One Last Word;

The end? Certainly this is the conclusion of this book and so it is only proper that I pause to thank those who have made the '65 INTERMONT possible. First to the INTERMONT sponsors, Miss Smith and Mr. Ward, thank you for your patience and guidance. Then what would an annual be without pictures? Many thanks to our photographer, Mr. Dickerson, for his long hours of work. There is not a word lage enough to say thank you to the editors of the INTERMONT staff. I am confident that no previous editor-in-chief at Virginia Intermont has had a more capable and co-operative staff. I also realize that without the aid of these girls, this publication would have fallen short in quality. Finally, let me say a word of appreciation to everyone else on Virginia Intermont's campus, students and faculty alike, for his cooperation from time to time during the year.

Although this is certainly the end of this book for those of us reading it, this annual merely represents the close of another portion of a life which is just beginning.

My staff joins me in saying that it has been our pleasure to compile this annual. We hope that we have succeeded in capturing and recording the true spirit of the Virginia Intermont lady and modern woman so that it will be vivid in your minds in the years to come.

Best wishes for happiness in the future.

Photographer's Page

This page is dedicated to Mr. Richard Dickerson, the college photographer. It is intended to give him a chance to demonstrate his skill in the artistic aspects of photography. For those interested in photography, Mr. Dickerson shot the picture using available light in his darkroom (while it was dark, of course).
